4.0 INSTRUCTIONAL SYSTEM

The instructional system of IGNOU is more learner-oriented and learner-centred, and the student is an active participant in the teaching and learning process. The University follows a multimedia approach in imparting instruction to its learners. The instructional system of PGDAB also follows a multi-media approach i.e., self-instructional print material, audio-video programmes, assignments, counselling sessions, teleconferencing, and interactive radio counselling.

4.1 Self-Learning/Instructional Print Material

The printed study material is provided to all learners. The PGDAB programme consists of 7 theory courses and one project work. The study material is self-instructional in nature and each theory courses are divided into Blocks. Each block contains three chapters which are called units. These units of each block have a certain thematic unity and are arranged in a related logical sequence to maintain the continuity of learning of the particular subject. Further, the first block of each course starts with the course introduction followed by a brief introduction to the block. Each unit has an introduction dealing with the contents of the units. Each unit outlines a list of objectives that we expect you to achieve working throughout the unit. This is followed by the main body of the unit, which is divided into various sections and sub-sections. We end each unit by summarizing its contents to enable you to recall the main points. The “Check Your Progress” exercises given in each unit are meant to help you assess your understanding of the subject.

4.2 Audio-Video Materials

The learning package contains audio and video programmes that have been produced by the University for better clarification and enhancement of understanding of the course material given to the student. A video programme is normally of 25-30 minutes duration. The audio tapes are run and video cassettes are screened at the study centres during the hours of the counselling sessions. The video programmes are also telecast on Gyan Darshan and Swayam Prabha channels. Similarly, the audio programmes are also broadcast by Gyan Vani and selected stations of All India Radio. Learners can contact study centres for further information. The video programmes can be seen at the following link <https://www.youtube.com/user/ignousoa/videos>.

4.3 Academic Counselling Sessions

Academic counselling sessions will be quite different from the usual classroom teaching. These would not be in the form of lectures. These sessions would allow interaction with your peers and academic counsellors. Normally, counselling sessions are held as per a schedule drawn by the Programme in charge of the study centre allotted to you. The counselling sessions are mostly held on weekends (Saturday and Sunday). The main purpose of such theory counselling sessions is to clarify your doubts pertaining to different aspects of a course and answer your questions. Before coming for counselling, you must study the self-learning material and try to assimilate it. Whatever problems are faced with, you must consult your counsellor for clarifications and help. During the counselling sessions, there will be ample opportunity to interact with fellow students which will help you to formulate self-help groups. There will be around 40 counselling sessions (2 hours each) in the programme. Attendance in counselling is not compulsory but it is important for the learners for better comprehension of the subject taught in the programme.

4.4 Teleconferencing

Teleconferencing sessions are conducted through the interactive Gyan Darshan Channel from the University studios as per the schedule made available to the Regional and Study Centres. Teleconferencing is an effective means of interaction between the learners and the experts. The current status of the channels and teleconferencing sessions are available on the IGNOU website. The programme can also be viewed at the GD IGNOU website <http://gd.ignouonline.ac.in/gyandarshan/>

4.5 Interactive Radio-Counselling (IRC)

5.0 ASSIGNMENTS

Assignments constitute an integral component of this programme. You are given certain course-wise problems/questions for writing assignments. You are advised to write your response for these assignments based on your understanding of Self Learning Material about the course, discussions and interaction you had with academic counsellors and fellow learners. Each course will have one assignment. You are required to submit assignment responses for every course at the Study Centre (SC/PSC) allotted to you within the stipulated time frame.

Course-wise questions for assignments prepared by the faculty can be downloaded from the IGNOU website i.e., available at <https://webservices.ignou.ac.in/assignments/>.

You are given enough time to go through the study material, refer to books, and discuss/interact with Academic Counsellors and fellow learners to develop an understanding and comprehension before you attempt actual assignment response preparation. After completing the assignments, you should submit the same to the SC/PSC for assignment evaluation and feedback. The evaluator will evaluate the assignment response and provide you feedback in the form of teaching comments on the strengths and weaknesses of each of the assignment responses for your benefit. Remember, the assignments carry a weightage of 30% per course, which will be added to the final grade in the concerned course.

Please make sure that you write assignment responses on your own which will improve your understanding, knowledge and skills about the course curriculum. At the same time, you are also advised not to reproduce the course material given in the units or assignments responses of others. If any learners are found indulging in such practice, may be penalized by awarding a “Zero mark”. Your sincere efforts in writing assignment responses will enable you to integrate your knowledge, understanding, and skills and provoke you to think on your own to test your comprehension of content and competencies in applying the concept.

Steps to be followed for Assignment Preparation

While writing assignment responses, you may follow the guidelines given below which will facilitate preparing better assignment responses:

- Read the assignment question very carefully and identify the block(s) unit(s) to which it relates.

- Stick to the word limit, if indicated, in the assignment, by drafting, and re-drafting assignment responses till you arrive at a final draft response.
- Remember, you have to write the answer in your own handwriting, as such, do not send a typed assignment response.

Further guidelines, if required, may be obtained from your Academic Counsellor(s) attached to the Study Centre/ Programme Study Centre.

Submission of Completed Assignment Responses

Always submit your assignments within the specified time limit. Please read carefully the instructions given in the assignment.

Programme Code .....
Programme Title .....
Course Title .....

- Use A-4 size paper for writing your response and leave a margin of about 2½ inches on the left side for writing tutor comments and providing feedback.
- Always retain a copy of the assignment response with you as a precautionary measure. In case the assignment response submitted is lost in transit or otherwise, you may be asked to send another copy. As such, retain a photocopy of the assignment response till you successfully complete the Programme.
- The assignment should be submitted to the Coordinator/Programme-Incharge of the Study Centre/PSC on or before the last date indicated, as per the schedule of assignments, given by the University.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Please keep this Programme Guide safe till you complete the Programme. You will need to repeatedly consult it while pursuing the Diploma Programme, as this guide carries information pertaining to structure, course and units; guidelines for operationalization of the programme and formats required for different purposes to make correspondence with the University.

Printed Self-Learning/Instructional Study Material (SLM) is the backbone of the Open and Distance Learning System (ODL). The study material is prepared by a team of experts keeping in view the requirements, understandings and interests of the learners. The material is developed through an expert committee who are distinguished academics and professionals in respective disciplines. The study material is written in such a manner that the learners can study themselves with little assistance from the Academic Counsellors at the Learner Support Centres. Further, you may also refer to textbooks and reference books, as per your requirement. These are available with select libraries attached to the Study Centres and Regional Centres.

The IGNOU will send you the study material by the registered post or may be handed over in person. If you do not receive the same for any reason, it may be immediately reported to your Regional Centre, for verification and necessary action. The assignment questions can be downloaded from the IGNOU website (www.ignou.ac.in).

Remember, you are eligible for Term-end-examination in June/December, depending upon the cycle of your admission i.e., January/July, till you have valid registration up to a maximum period of three years.
